Ultimate Challenge · EPS 1210-01 · Len Green · Fall 2026

WED SEPT 2 · 3:00 PM · OLIN 120

The plan is pre-decided — this sheet just executes it

WEAR SOMETHING GREEN + HAND A SLIP WITH YOUR FIRST & LAST NAME TO AN HR OFFICER — SYLLABUS BONUS POINT. LAPTOPS & PHONES BANNED. THIS SHEET IS THE MACHINE.

1 PM FINAL THE DREAM FIVE IS PRE-DECIDED: Jeda · Mia · Omar · AJ (+ Kelly if a 5th round exists). The only live variables: my hat number and the ROUND COUNT on the wall diagram. PLAN A (5 rounds): R1 Jeda → R2 MIA → R3 Omar → R4 AJ → R5 Kelly +$400K. PLAN B (4 rounds): R1 Jeda → R2 Omar → R3 AJ → R4 ladder. MECHANIC: a refusal forces them onto the NEXT picker — never to me. Never let a pick pass between a refusal and my take. Never instruct one (Len endorsed pre-commits, not refusals). Jeda + Omar refuse all others (their calls, their right). Buy-back prices: table below.

RULE 1 DO NOT PASS ANY ROUND. 43 players · 48 slots — the pool runs out. Pass cash is one-time ($600K/$500K/$250K/$100K); a teammate works 13 weeks. Past winners: $20M, <$1M apart. Draft four.

RULE 2 SNAKE + HAT DRAW: number 1-12 out of a hat; even rounds invert. Late R1 = early R2 back-to-back. Draft my VISIBLE commits early (Jeda), INVISIBLE ones late (Omar, AJ, Kelly last). ★ = dark pool — 11 rival CEOs cannot see them. Best player available: follow-through first, "can they carry a pitch?" for everyone (70% of the grade).

ROUND 1 — JEDA, AT WHATEVER SLOT I HOLD

she's the only tier-1 target rivals can see — she does not fall

1. JEDA WANNASIN □ · Thai, F · Strategy/Consulting · D 9.3 / S 5 · LOCKED MON NIGHT

- Take her the moment my first pick comes up — no stash, no cleverness. Presidential Scholar (never mentions it) · shoots + edits + performs her own 65-sec video — the only finished artifact in the class · ColoriS 2.5 yrs, assets behind a 529% revenue jump · CodeClean ~200 units at 35% ROI · filed GISSCO's patent app.
- If a rival drafts her first and she refuses: take her at my own slot (forced join, 2nd team). Refused AND re-drafted by a rival: she's gone → best available + buy-back window: open $250K, walk $600K. No hesitation — she IS the semester.

ROUNDS 2-5 — DECIDED AT THE DOOR BY ONE NUMBER: HOW MANY ROUNDS THE DRAFT BOARD SHOWS

2. WALK IN → COUNT THE ROUNDS ON THE WALL DIAGRAM · Len: after R4 a pick comes WITH "$400K + the right to pick somebody — I don't want anyone not picked"

- PLAN A — five rounds exist: R2 MIA (the clock — Nuchaba takes her if I don't; first-pick-wins, refuses others) → R3 OMAR → R4 AJ → R5 KELLY + $400K (she lasts; operator bench; the bonus pays for her).
- PLAN B — four rounds hard: R2 OMAR → R3 AJ → R4 ladder (Mia → Tiffany → Kelly). Mia goes to Nuch — accepted cost; she lands with a friend.
- Why Omar before AJ: Omar is slightly more visible — his brag sheet was live on Canvas for weeks before guest access got pulled, he's known on campus, and Ryan Hong found him. AJ is a ghost. Ghosts last.
- If JEDA is gone for good (refused + re-drafted before my slot): Mia enters at R2 in both plans — next name on the board.

BUY-BACK (2-MIN WINDOW)	OPEN	WALK AWAY	THE LOGIC
JEDA	$250K	$600K	The guarantee. A teammate compounds 13 weeks; money is one-time.
AJ	$50K	$200K	Whoever holds him paid a real pick for a guy they watched bomb the intro — they'll sell cheap.
OMAR	$50K	$150K	Decide BEFORE the window opens, not inside it. Default: yes at ≤$150K.
Anyone else	—	<$150K	Bargains only. Money = grade (Len: most money at year-end = highest grade) — pay for locks, not for likes.

ROUND 3 — OMAR FLORES □

dark pool, scarcity 2 — nobody else even knows him

3. OMAR FLORES □ · first-gen Latino, M · Analytics · D 9.3 / S 2 · Blank Scholar · LOCKED MON NIGHT

- President's Office analyst · o4flo ~2.5 yrs · CTO of 12-person TeesHees · 3 yrs BBBS · Boston Marathon (Boston.com) · the AI pathway analysis nobody asked for · trains clients at LGRAC, the gym named after Len. He has also volunteered to refuse every other CEO. If a rival drafts him early and he refuses → take him at my very next slot (forced join, 2nd team). If a rival RE-drafts his refusal before I can → he lands on their roster → post-draft trade: open $50K, walk $150K (see table above). Don't spend R1/R2 on him — that's the whole point of the lock.

CONTINGENCY LOGIC — ONE LINE EACH

Jeda drafted + refused → I take her at my slot the moment it comes (forced join, 2nd team)

Jeda refused + re-drafted → best available + buy-back $250K→$600K

Mia gone before my R2 (Nuch) → Plan A becomes Omar → AJ → ladder (+Kelly/$400K if R5)

AJ or Omar sniped → next of ladder; buy-back window right after

Any seat wobbles → Kelly (if not already mine) — stop negotiating, draft Board empty → still draft. Never the cash. Passes NO x4 — "the most important is getting a team" (Len, verbatim).

AT THE DOOR — 2:50 PM, FIVE MOVES BEFORE ANYONE PICKS ANYTHING

- 1 The sign-in sheet lists EVERYONE. Scan it while signing in: full roster (Canvas hides it — Len confirmed the sheet is the source), count heads, note any HR/IT officer tags. 3 HR + 3 IT officers are DRAFTABLE — and the IT officer controls presentation order (Len: "you don't want to be the 12th to present").
- 2 Read the wall diagram — count the draft rounds. That number IS the R2 decision: 5 rounds → Plan A (Mia R2). 4 rounds → Plan B (Omar R2). Also clock Len's per-round pass cash if he states it. Confirm with Len/Tim (10 sec): "5th-round pick = player + $400K, correct? What does a 5th-round pass pay?" — his Q&A said "AFTER the fourth round... $400,000 plus the right to pick somebody," i.e. the bonus rides on R5+ picks, not R4.
- 3 Green + name slip to an HR officer at the door. Syllabus bonus point. Len hinted the syllabus quiz is about "what you wear and what you hear today."
- 4 Phone OFF · laptop banned · note where Badejoko / Nuchaba / Wiacek sit · and listen to every 60-second player intro like scouting tape — intel box below.

MY 60-SECOND CEO PITCH

≈150 words · say it slow · pause after the 105 line · eye contact on the last two lines · they decide YES before I ever draft

"I'm Ryan. First, proof I do the work: I read the syllabus, the welcoming remarks, and I added the points up. They hit 105. Len already called me out for it, so you're allowed to laugh.

Here's the team I'm running: four or five people who've already shipped something real, one job each — the thing you're actually great at. I sell for a living — SDR at Samsara — and last spring a professor told my team a $200 budget was non-negotiable. We came back with two grand in sponsors and the Worcester Red Sox mascot.

I generate results faster than I organize them — so I'm drafting people who organize and build better than me. That's the whole system. Some of you already know it firsthand: you said yes when I asked. I keep my word — and my team will out-prepare this room."

PLAYER INTROS — LIVE INTEL (EVERYONE PITCHES 60S BEFORE THE DRAFT)

AJ	CALM-FORGETTABLE on purpose (re-coached 1:15 ✓): brief, warm, confident, ZERO prestige anchors (no SpaceX/GM/SonRC). Do NOT mumble — Len grades every intro; a floor-staring mumble is memorable for the wrong reasons. "Already committed" line ONLY on a direct ask/draft — never announced publicly (a public announce invites a free-shot gamble: a passing team loses nothing drafting him, since a refusal still pays them that round's cash). Vague-TRUE if pushed: "Olin, mech-e, I tinker, handball."
Omar	Modest ON PURPOSE (coached ✓) — his brag sheet died with his Canvas access; the intro is all they get. Ryan Hong knows him — one real snipe risk at R2-R3.
Listen for	Jeda can't hide (the video) — expect her gone early, which is why she's R1 at any slot. Tiffany's quiet intro → she FALLS → ladder stays alive. Kelly's warm-unshowy one → she lasts to R5. Whoever POPS (Brock / Harini / Mads types) is where rival R2-R3 money goes → my dark pool lasts even longer.
Eduardo	If introduced as IT officer: drafting him = presentation-slot control. Real mechanical perk, not a tiebreaker. Ladder row below.

FALLBACK LADDER — ONLY IF A LOCK GETS SNIPED (IN THIS ORDER)

1. Mia 8.2	Personable core; blankets, accounting, coaching. Only if Jeda's seat opened — otherwise the Nuch race decides her.
2. Tiffany 9.0	KIWI national 1st (press-verified); Granite Asia + PwC. Defined deliverables, never improv. Quiet intro means she may still be there.
3. Kelly 8.6	The operator — 20+ automated workbooks; employers all verified. Takes any seat, zero drama.
4. Eduardo 7.0	IT-officer perk (presentation order) + max diversification. Fish telemetry + Babson IT tech.
5. Brock 9.3	No commit — sound him out in the room first ("still want to build?"). B.E.T.A. finalist, SneakerSoul live.
6-9	Marra 8.8 ($65K fundraised) → Tarynea 8.5 (S8 — goes early) → Ong 9.0 → Chen 8.6 (charging marketplace). Full board → page 3.

In the room: pivot rule (if someone gives my answer first, change it — Len grades the pivot) · cold-call ready · trades are 2 minutes — the buy-back table on p1 is already decided, just execute · no phone, no laptop. This sheet is the machine.

◆ HIDDEN GEMS (HIGH D / LOW S — THE EDGE)

Ong 9.0/1 · Bulow 9.0/1 · Flores 9.3/2 · Lukman 9.0/2 · Chen 8.6/2 · Saad 8.0/1 · Anvesha 7.9/1 · Gramer 8.3/4 · Aryaman 7.4/2 · Ansh 7.4/2 · Zeynep 7.2/2 · Eduardo 7.0/1

⚠ TRAPS — PRICED ABOVE THEIR RECORD

Nagpaul ($10) · Ilan Mayo (S8, deepest résumé, zero self-started) · Henrique Nagem (S7) · Ziad El Hout (S8, storefront dead) · Yifei You (S7, self-declared follow-through risk) · Adi (S7, contested by Nandika)

❏ DO NOT DRAFT — AT ANY ROUND

ROHAN NAGPAUL. SEC filings: ~$1.27M/26 investors — not "$5M AUM." SigEp president is someone else; Babson credits Arcangel to others; no YC; no TEDx; Rauxmont dates shifted. Note which CEO takes him.

CAPITAL, FINAL: keep my slot (hat number is random; no pre-draft position buying — Len doesn't know if it's allowed either). No buying up. Buy-back prices are set — page 1 table. Jeda to $600K · AJ to $200K · Omar to $150K · bargains only otherwise. If a 5th-round pick pays $400K, Kelly is a net-positive pick. Passes: NO ×4 — "the most important is getting a team."

RIVAL MAP: Badejoko (films — hunts Jeda; she's LOCKED — if he drafts her she refuses and I take her at my slot) · Nandika (credentials — wants Adi, may buy Nagpaul/Ilan/Henrique) · Wiacek (closers+makers — Alpher/Marra/Collins/Jeda; her brother's Len-funded Vix hit the Olympics) · Scholte (friends — Chi O = MIA, the one commit she can steal: if she picks before my R2, Mia is hers) · R. Jain (family firm, needs a brand person = Jeda). Nine of eleven rivals have no verified venture. Prestige sinks absorb early picks — that's the arbitrage.

LEN'S ANSWERS — FROM THE TUE Q&A (TRANSCRIPT IN `UPLOADS/`, SUMMARIZED IN `RESEARCH/`)

- 1 Order: hat draw 1-12, snake confirmed. Buying position pre-draft: "I don't know the answer" — assume no. Trades: 2-minute window right after the draft.
- 2 HR/IT officers are draftable — and smart picks: they know presentation slotting ("you don't want to be the 12th to present"). Officers get +½ grade if good, -½ if not.
- 3 Team size: NO fixed cap — "the only limit is how many people you can get to a meeting." After R4, each extra pick comes WITH $400K ("I don't want anyone not picked"). Count the rounds off the wall diagram at the door.
- 4 Refusal: once; the refused team "all you get is money." Pre-commits explicitly endorsed: "go up to them and say, would you like to be on my team — you don't want to select somebody and have them say no."
- 5 Money: 30 challenges, $250K-$2M; most money at year-end = highest grade — but "the most important is getting a team that can handle it."
- 6 The market never closes: trades/mergers all semester; fired players join other teams (may cost money); fired CEOs can start teams with fresh capital.
- 7 Roster: the door sign-in sheet lists everyone. Non-Canvas picks = I relay assignments. Pitches shrink 60→30s by term end; stickers = currency with Len.
- 8 Len knows my name (the 105 catch) — asset AND target. Syllabus quiz today: "what you wear / what you hear" — green on, listen up.

COMMITMENT STATUS — 9 AM WEDNESDAY HARD = explicit yes · COND = conditional · six commits, four seats

PLAYER	COMMIT	WHO ELSE ASKED	PLAYER	COMMIT	WHO ELSE ASKED
Jeda Wannasin ☐	HARD + refuses ALL others	— (would refuse)	Mia Mumby ☐-cond	me or Nuch — first pick wins	Nuchaba (Chi O) — R2 clock
Omar Flores ★ ☐	HARD + refuses ALL others	Ryan Hong asked — Omar told him no	Tiffany Lukman ★	HARD — 1:1 done 9/1	— none known
AJ Bulow ★	HARD — 1:1 = A (noon 9/2) · "incredible for the team"	— nobody can find him (S1)	Kelly Morgan	HARD — alternate	— none known
Brock Alpher ★	no commit — fallback only	Wiacek risk	Will Marra		Wiacek wants him

Everyone else: no commit, no rival contact logged — full log in research/TRACKER.md · Eduardo: IT-officer flag (p2)

READING THE ROOM — REPLY CRIB

Anyone hedges at the door	Stop negotiating, draft the ladder. The buy-back window fixes mistakes — hesitation doesn't.
A rival pitches a trade mid-draft	"Window's after the draft — find me then." Prices are already set (p1).
Yes to several CEOs	Normal. Counter with specificity: "where would I land if it came down to it?" Ask ranking, not exclusivity. Never ask anyone to refuse a pick.

THE RULE TAKE THE BEST PLAYER AVAILABLE. Proven follow-through first. Raw strength second. Can they carry a pitch — asked of EVERYONE (70% of the grade). Complementarity breaks ties between close players; it is never a reason to take the weaker one. Only hard constraint: don't end up with four of the same person. Check at R4: all analysts or all salespeople? Fix with the last pick. Three men by R4 → Len scores gender (Anvesha, Kelly, Mia, Tarynea, Harini, Zeynep all live).

GOAT screen: held one thing 2+ yrs · shipped something that exists · did work nobody assigned · quantified their OWN outcome · did the unglamorous version · performs under judgment.
